Front image: Kiiza, 21, lives with his family in Kamwenge Town. Kiiza completed primary school but could not afford to further his education so proceeded to work in the garden at home with his family. In 2011 he obtained his first official employment, working on the construction site of the Maranatha Health Clinic. Recognised as an extremely hard worker, he has now been hired as a groundskeeper for MH.

'I am very happy that Maranatha Health chose to work in Kamwenge,' said Kiiza, 'It has enabled young men like myself the chance to earn a living for our families, and this makes a big difference to our lives'.
